VOL. XIX.]

MONDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 9, 1818.

[No. 5379.]

American Citizen. His career of glory through life was unstained by crime; and his death was felt as a loss by every individual of that community, whose political existence was the fruit of his exertions.

THE FAREWELL ADDRESS of General Washington is the condensed result of long experience, matured reflection and strong anxiety for the permanent prosperity of his country. His advice concerning the great importance of maintaining indissolubly the Federal Union: the danger of indulging too much in party feelings: the necessity of supporting public credit at home:—of maintaining public faith in all our transactions, with foreign nations: of encouraging foreign intercourse free from foreign attachments:—are so many lessons of prudence which we should do well to bear in constant remembrance. Why therefore should not his legacy of wisdom and affection, be so published, as to admit of being constantly before our eyes? An ornament to our apartments, while it serves as a memento to guide our public feelings, and to manifest that the author lives in our memories?

To make it such, is the aim of the proposed Edition. The Publishers are determined that the Address shall be printed on paper of the same quality and size as the splendid edition of the Declaration of Independence now engraving, & shall in all respects be a companion worthy that great State paper.

As errors are known from various causes to find their way into the most important writings, the publishers feel it their duty, not only to satisfy themselves, but to satisfy the public, of the authenticity of the copy from which this splendid Edition of the Farewell Address shall be published.

Mr. GEORGE BRIDPORT will complete the Design; of which the following is an outline:—The introductory part of the Address, in highly finished ornamental penmanship, shall form the upper part;—the other parts of the plate, shall be appropriate ornaments;—in the centre below shall be engraved, from an historical design for this publication by Mr. Sully the Surrender of the British Army at Yorktown, October 19, 1781.

The Address itself shall be printed with type of a peculiar and appropriate character, designed for this purpose by Mr. Fairman, and to be cut and cast by our best artists. No more of the type shall be cast than will be necessary to execute this Address; & when it shall be completed, the type and the matrices in which it was cast shall be utterly destroyed; so that no other work shall ever be executed by the same letter which shall have printed the "FAREWELL ADDRESS" of him who lived and died, first in War; first in Peace, and first in the hearts of his Countrymen.

The paper, of the first quality, 36 by 26 inches, will be made by Mr. Amies. The ink shall be carefully prepared, and of the best materials. The signature of General Washington from which it is proposed to execute a fac simile for this publication, is that which he affixed to the Constitution of the United States, when he signed it as President of the Convention in which it was framed; Thus associating and concentrating some of the greatest events in the life of this great man and in the history of his Country.

The ornamental writing will be designed and executed in the very best manner; the ornamental parts of the design and vignette, will be engraved by G. FAIRMAN; and the Typographical part executed by John Bins. They will take especial care of the execution of their several duties in this respect, and they will call to their aid, all that liberality, zeal and industry can command from the Sciences and Arts, so as to make the "Farewell Address" no mean specimen of the state of the Fine Arts in the United States.

As much progress has already been made in designing and procuring materials for this splendid edition of Gen. Washington's "Farewell Address," it is expected it will be ready for delivery, with the Splendid Edition of the Declaration of Independence, in the month of December next. That the public may have a more perfect view of the design and style of execution, than can be given in a proposal, of this Tribute to the memory of him who was "a Conqueror for the Freedom of his Country! A Legislator for its Security! A Magistrate for its Happiness," it is not intended to solicit any Subscription until the Ornamental parts of the plate shall be executed. It will then be submitted for public inspection and public patronage, at five dollars a Copy payable on the delivery of the Engraving. Philadelphia, July 31.

Exchange & Broker's Office,
Georgetown, District of Columbia.
ROMULUS RIGGS,
AT his office, next door below Crawford's tavern, Bridge-st. Georgetown, will exchange all kinds of Bank Notes on the most reasonable terms.—All persons who may have notes on the banks of North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, would do well to call on him, as he is largely in the purchase of that kind of money, and will take it on the most reasonable terms.—Persons travelling to the Western Country may at all times get the Bank Notes of the Western Banks at a fair discount, by calling at his Office. For the information of all persons throughout the U. States, R. Riggs makes it known, that all of the Banks of the District of Columbia pay their notes on demand in specie; and it would be much to the advantage of the merchants, and trading to the South and west, to encourage the circulation of the Notes of the Banks of Georgetown, Washington and Alexandria, as it will at all times answer for remittances to the large commercial and Atlantic towns;—all persons emigrating or travelling to the westward should be very particular and take the Notes of the Banks of the District of Columbia, as they will find them the most current, there being no counterfeits on the District Banks. The Merchants' Bank of Alexandria has long since failed—all persons should be on their guard, as they will be imposed on.

Ten Dollars Reward.
RAN away from the subscriber about the 4th of August, a Negro Woman LOUIZA—she is 25 years old, about 5 feet 5 inches high, and stout; has some of her front teeth out, and is apt to laugh when spoken to; she has a sister Marinda and a mother living in Georgetown, one above Semmes's tavern, and the other on Herring Hill, where she has been harbored for two weeks, and left there to come home, but has not done so. I expect she can be found in Georgetown or Alexandria, where she has many acquaintances. I will give the above reward if brought home, or lodged in jail so that I get her again.

Gone to the Southward or Westward,
A YELLOW WOMAN, called Celia a Dutchman, in the 23d year of her age, about 5 feet 2 or 3 inches high—marks like moles on the right side of her face, which, with several letters on her left arm, were made with india ink. She is about four months gone in a state of pregnancy—followed her husband, Jim Clark, a yellow man, who was purchased from this place and taken away in company with a large number of slaves, about two week ago, by a man of the name of Basset. It is supposed they have gone to the westward: Celia was born free, and had with her a notarial certificate of her freedom, and description of her person. Her mother, the subscriber, is much afflicted by her manner of going away, and desires that any humane people who may chance to meet with her, will persuade her to return, being apprehensive that when she gets into a strange country, where she will be unknown and out of the reach of her friends and those who would be likely to protect her, attempts may be made by some avaricious and unprincipled persons, to deprive her of her liberty, and sell her for a slave. Should any such attempts be made, fifty dollars reward will be paid to any person who will communicate such information as shall lead to the conviction of the offenders, and the recovery of the woman.

FADED LOVE.

There was a Rose which once did bloom In triumph in this leaving breast, Where dwelt no chilling care or gloom, But all was sunshine, peace and rest; Till sorrow's blast erst did remove This blighted rose of faded love.

There was a thought which once did play Around my sleepless pillow's head, But now it reigns thence passed away,
And memory's mournful page hath fled;
'Twas that which once did never rove, The silent thought of faded love.

There was a vision, oh how fair!
'Twas once imagination's seat, Its magic spells did linger there,
And made dull contemplation sweet;
But now is snatched to realms above That vision sweet of faded love.

There was an angel form so bright, It seemed with heavenly grace endued, In dreams I saw it through each night, It looked more fair each time I viewed;
But now is shrouded in the grave, That matchless form of faded love.

citizen of Philadelphia, who died at an advanced age, a few months since. It presents the curious fact of his having performed one hundred voyages, which we believe has never occurred to any individual. We had often heard this fact mentioned, and are happy to have it substantiated from so high and credible a source as capt. Ashmead, who has given it to the world on the most solemn occasion.

The writer and subject of the epitaph, after having passed on the ocean what might be termed a long life, and after having completed his hundredth voyage, many of which were to Europe and some to the East Indies, at last determined to spend the remainder of his days on shore. He was soon after appointed chief warden of the port of Philadelphia; in the exercise of the duties of this office, he gave universal satisfaction, and obtained for himself great credit and honor. He continued in this station until his dissolution, to which period he retained his vigor of intellect unimpaired.

We are proud of being the means of communicating these lines to the public, which are so characteristic of the writer, and which exhibit many beauties, that do credit to his understanding.

CAPT. ASHMEAD'S EPITAPH, WRITTEN BY HIMSELF.

In life's hard bustle o'er the troubled seas, Through many a storm and many a prosperous breeze,
Through summer's heat and winter's chilling blast,
From torrid to the frigid zone I've past, Through sickly climes where each contagious breath Spreads desolation by untimely death:
One hundred voyages, through unnumber'd toils,

I've sail'd at least five hundred thousand miles;
Been taken, sunk, and oft' times cast away, Yet weathered all in this close port to lay, Where a dead calm my wearied bark doth find,
Obliged to anchor for the want of wind.
Here undisturb'd, at rest I shall remain, 'Till the last trump calls up all hands again;
And what new perils I shall then go through No human reason ever yet could shew; But the same pow'r who leads through earth and sea,
Will doubtless lead me through eternity.

INCREDIBLE.

J. Cunningham, of New-York, advertises for sale "the best transparent soap in the world," and states, in enumerating its virtues, that "even a lady's mouth is made sweet, by being washed with Cunningham's soap!"

THE FIRST OF NOVEMBER.

The male and female pedestrians on the Pennsylvania avenue, yesterday (Sunday) presented a novelty of costume, not of various nations, but of different seasons. At the same moment you might behold the light fantastic robes of summer in company with the sombre habiliments of winter, in the same group, forming a diversity of drees, not exceeded in the throngs of St.
Petersburgh, where the inhabitants of the arctic and tropic mingle together. The air of the morning was as gentle as spring, about noon fully as pleasant as summer, in the afternoon as boisterous as the autumnal blast, and at night we were visited with a slight frost. Such is the caprice of the weather, and such is the variety of climates we have to contend with in this quarter; moderate enough to refresh you in the morning, sweat you at noon, chill you in the evening, and freeze you at night. Milton surely had some such temperature in view when he represented the punishment of the wicked to consist of the extremes of alternate and sudden heat and cold.

ALEXANDRIA: MONDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1818.

COMMUNICATION.

The citizens of Alexandria are earnestly entreated to turn their attention to providing means for the extinguishment of fire.
That we are shamefully deficient in this particular, is a truth which ought to be generally known, in order that each individual may be apprised of his danger, and guard against impending ruin. The season of the year is now at hand when the bleak northern blasts may bring swift destruction upon us, and the soul chilling cry of fire! fire! re-echo from every quarter of the town. Already, indeed, we have had two awful warnings—a third may prove fatal—shall we then continue to slumber upon our poats? Men of wealth look to it—to-morrow your houses may be reduced to ashes, and your children to beggars. I repeat it, your means are inadequate to arrest the progress of flames when attained to any height—your fire companies, with one or two exceptions, are falling off, and like skeleton regiments are too feeble to drag their crazy engines into action—your pumps do not afford a sufficient supply of water, and you have not a single hose to communicate with the river.—The evil is daily increasing—to remedy it is within our power, and a duty we owe our town.

Let us then re-organize and fill up the ranks of our companies, with efficient, not silk stocking, men—let us petition congress to exempt them from militia duty—provide in time more good engines, with a hose for the use of each—procure an additional number of fire hooks and ladders, upon the improved plan—let two or more large wells be sunk in each ward of the town, with two good pumps in them, constructed so as to discharge the water into the hose if necessary. These are some of the expedients which might be resorted to—others, no doubt, will be suggested. My only object is to draw your attention to the subject.

A CITIZEN.

A Boston price current quotes U. S. six per cent. stock at 102, bills on London at thirty days 1 per cent. advance, U. S. bank stock no sales, and specie at 84 to 9 per cent. advance. After the ebullience comes the flood. We may calculate on the price of specie soon falling as rapidly as it advanced. [Washington City Gazette.]

MILITARY CAMP NEAR MEXICO.

About seven leagues up the river Trinity, and in the vicinity of the ground chosen by general Lallemant for his military camp, is a town, containing near 500 houses, occupied by Indians and Spaniards, called Trinity, distant from St. Antonio, in the province of Mexico, about 120 leagues.— The number of Lallemant's followers still keeps increasing, by the addition of fugitive Frenchmen, who find an asylum in this establishment. Neither provisions, money nor arms, are said to be wanting; and the patriot privateers, cruising in the Gulf of Mexico, deposit their surplus prize goods, the produce of the West Indies, at this spot, between whom and the new settlers the most friendly relations subsist. [Ibid.]

New-Orleans is said to have increased in population full three-fourths since its annexation to the United States, and now contains 40,000 inhabitants. It is supposed that the yellow fever would not be known there under a proper system of police, which, it is probable, will be so far improved, by the next season, as greatly to contribute towards its extinction. [Ibid.]

NAVY.

According to the late instructions for the United States' naval service, commission officers of the navy are divided into the following denominations, viz: Commodores, commanding squadrons.
Captains, commanding frigates, and vessels of 20 guns.
Masters Commandant, commanding sloops Lieutenants.
Captains, masters commandant, and lieutenants, take precedence and command in their respective ranks agreeably to the dates of their commissions; or, if their commissions are of the same date, according to their number.

The relative ranks between the officers of the army and navy is thus established: Commodores rank with Brigadier Generals.
Captains in the navy, with Colonels.
Masters Commandant, with Majors.
Lieutenants in the navy, with captains in the army.

The rank and precedence of sea and land officers as above, to be regulated by seniority of commissions.
Crews are to be trained and exercised in the use of small arms as well as great guns; and ball cartridges furnished them accordingly. [Trenton True American.]

It would be as difficult as we know it would be useless, to attempt to account for the prejudices so generally existing against banks—prejudices so powerful as to prevent the great majority of those who en-tain them from considering whether they have really a just cause of complaint against any of these institutions; for every man feels in his own mind so fully convinced that he has reason to be dissatisfied, that he would consider any attempt to prove the contrary, as an insult to his understanding —yet, while under the influence of these feelings, every man forgets or overlooks the very obvious circumstance, that it is and always has been wholly at his own option to receive a bank note or refuse it.

[Baltimore Federal Gazette.]

We understand the unhappy Phillips, who lately murdered his wife, at Marblehead, is fast drawing to his end, from the wound he gave himself. His insanity at the time, and previous to his committing the deed, seems to be established. [Salem Gaz.]

UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA.

The Philadelphia Daily Advertiser, contains the following:
"We rejoice to find that the usual and more than usual number of students, are flocking to our city, to attend the medical lectures; notwithstanding the arts and misrepresentations employed to attract them to other places. This institution, still the pride of our city and state, remains, and is likely long to remain, proudly pre-eminent over all her rivals. W."

The Frankfort (Ky.) newspaper announces the completion of a building for a hotel in that place, supposed to be the largest building in the western country; fronting upwards of two hundred and twenty feet; three stories high, containing nearly a hundred fire places.

A letter from Bermuda, just received in this city by the last arrival, communicates the following:—

"Antigua and St. Kitts papers to the first Oct. are received, containing the act of parliament of 23d May, relative to the importation of certain articles into the British colonies, by which it is enacted, "That it shall and may be lawful to import tobacco, rice, grain, peas and flour into any of his majesty's colonies in the West Indies, or on the continent of South America, for the supply of the inhabitants thereof, in British built ships, owned, navigated, &c. according to law, from any colony or possession in the West Indies, or on the continent of South America, under the dominion of any foreign sovereign or state."

"This law must materially affect the trade of Bermuda, except in the article of lumber, and such other articles admitted here as are not enumerated in the act."
[New-York Mercantile Advertiser.]

A gentleman from Newburgh states that the fire in several of the mountainous tracts in that neighborhood still rages, and has desolated many thousand acres. The "drowned lands," as they are called, are on fire, and it is supposed that the ravages of the element in those grounds have extended to three or four hundred acres. It passes through the peat formations beneath the soil to the depth of four or five feet, bursting out at different points, and rendering a passage over the surface extremely unsafe—a bullock had fallen through the crust and perished. The turpentine which crosses a part of those lands is reported to have one or two miles of its distance undermined. Our informant further states, that the streams and kills, on which are numerous mills, had so entirely failed, that the grinding of grain through a large extent of country, was almost at an end. [Ibid.]

From the N. Y. Commercial Adr. Nov. 5.
LATEST FROM ENGLAND.

The ship Belfast, captain Bunker, arrived this morning in 43 days from Liverpool.
By this arrival we have been favored with the Liverpool Mercury of the 18th of Sept. from which we copy many articles in relation to the markets at Liverpool, London and Dublin.

The queen of England continued very ill. The bulletin of the morning of the 16th Sept. stated that she had passed a good night, and was easier that morning.

The British ship of war Griffon, which left St. Helena on the 2d of August, and which has arrived at Portsmouth, brings the information that the squadron on that station was extremely sickly, and that several of the ships had buried a large portion of their crews, from dysentery and liver complaints. The colony also was very sickly, from the prevalence of the same diseases, which are there peculiarly fatal. The governor, Sir Hudson Lowe, had an alarming attack of bowel complaint in the beginning of July, from which he had recovered. Captain Buyn, of the Honorable Company's store-ship Mangles, died on the 29th July, and captain Paisley of his Majesty's ship Redpole, on the 17th July, of the prevailing dysentery. Bonaparte had not been seen out of doors for several months, and continued very ill with a liver complaint. The Griffon buried Mr. Dunning, of the Conqueror, a passenger, and five men, on her voyage home, all of whom died of fever or dysentery. Mr. O'Meara, surgeon to Bonaparte, arrived in the Griffon.

Concord, (N. H.) Oct. 27.

At the late term of the Supreme Court at Amherst, the grand jury found indictments against Mr. J. of New-York, and Mr. B. of New-Ipswich, for forcibly taking and imprisoning a girl about 12 years of age, for the purpose of putting her into the possession of her mother.

The circumstances are understood to be these—Some time last spring a carriage came to N. with the widow of Maj. Wool-stoncraft, late of the U. States army, and resident at New-Orleans, and three children—one about 12 years of age, his daughter by a former wife, and the other two reported to be his adopted children.—The daughter was left for her education in the family of the clergyman of New-Ipswich.
The adopted children were carried to Rindge. From the conversation of Jane the daughter, it soon became known that the pretended adopted children were the illegitimate children of Major Woolston-craft, and one of them born in his own house.

In the month of August, a carriage came with the own mother of Jane, and several of her friends, two of whom were witnesses of her marriage with Major W. They brought recommendations from the Governor and other respectable people in the state of New-York. It was by accident that the mother got intelligence where her daughter might be found. One of her friends being in Boston, heard some conversation respecting a certain coachman having been into the country to carry a family belonging to New-Orleans. From some circumstances which were mentioned, she suspected it must be the widow of Major W. with the daughter of her friend.

She accordingly applied to the coachman for further information; but he denied any knowledge of the matter. However, he was at length induced to confess that he had carried the family into the country under injunctions of secrecy, and gave information where they were. This intelligence was communicated to the mother, who in a few days made her appearance at New-Ipswich and called at the house of Mr. B. to whom she had letters. She now found herself in the neighborhood of her only child, from whom she had been separated when an infant, and never seen for 11 years.
She was doubtful whether she could identify her own child, but mentioned that if she was her child, she would be twelve years old next Sunday. Mr. B. called at the house of the Rev. Mr. H. The child came to the door. Mr. B. enquired her age. "I shall be twelve years old next Sunday," was the reply. Mr. B. informed Mr. H. that the mother of Jane was at his house, and wished to see her. Mr. H. said he could not allow her to go. That she was placed under his care by the step-mother, and guardian of the child, and that he had particular instructions not to let her have any intercourse with her mother, or to see her, except in his presence: as she was represented to him to be an unworthy character, and to have been divorced for her misconduct. The child had likewise great dread of seeing her mother. She had been taught to believe, that if she would consent to see her own mother, her father's ghost would appear to her. Mr. B. now returned.
The mother, sufficiently agitated with the idea of seeing the child, was now distressed with the expectation that she might never be permitted to see her. She represented that since the death of Major W. she had sent to New-Orleans for the child, on which the step-mother had caused her to be removed, giving out word that she was gone to North Carolina, and the next intelligence they had of her, was that she had been brought to N. privately, as has been mentioned; and she now apprehended, that whenever it became known to the stepmother, that she had discovered the residence of her daughter, she would be again removed, perhaps where she would never hear of her. Mr. B. assured her she should see her child, and now proceeded with her and her friends, to the house of Mr. H. where, after many objections and much delay, a meeting took place. This I shall not attempt to describe.

After this interview, the mother and her friends finding that Mr. H. would not give up the child, returned to Boston for further information and advice. After being absent about a week they came back, and having found means to get the girl to the house of one of the neighbors, they took her at mid-day, and put her into a chaise, and carried her to the house of Mr. B. where she remained till the next morning, when they proceeded to New-York. The reason given by the friends of the mother, for proceeding in this way, instead of taking legal steps to obtain the child, is, that they were apprehensive she would be removed beyond their reach, before they could obtain a legal decision.

As it respects the divorce, it appears that 2 or 3 years after the marriage, the mother left the Mississippi, where they then resided, and returned to her friends in N. York.
This separation, on the one part is represented to have taken place on account of her misconduct, and on the other on account of his, of which the illegitimate children afford some proof. But a divorce, it seems, took place by an act of the legislature of Louisiana, about 1811; soon after which he was married to the woman who is distinguished by the appellation of the step-mother.

The affair excites great interest, not only on account of the novelty of the circumstances, but from the character of the parties. Major W. was brother of the celebrated English writer, Mary Woolstoncraft.
The mother is of a very respectable family in New-York, and the step-mother a very intelligent woman, of high standing, in New-Orleans.

It is understood that before the indictment no complaint was made on oath, according to the usual course of proceedings in criminal matters; but that Mr. H. and some of his friends made such a representation of the affair to the attorney-general, as induced him or some other magistrate of the county of Rockingham, (at a great distance from the place where the circumstances were best known) to summon those who were named to him by Mr. H. to attend at Amherst in behalf of the state.

In an affair which produces so many idl-rumors, it is not to be expected that a correct account of all the circumstances can be readily obtained; but the above is believed to be a fair statement of the case, depending on information obtained from intelligent people living in the immediate neighborhood.

We would further remark that Major W.

One Cent Reward.

RAN away from the subscriber, living in Prince William county, Virginia, on the 25th of October last, an apprentice boy to the Bricklaying and Plastering business, named PHILIP CRANDELL, 16 years of age. The above reward will be paid for the delivery of said boy.
All persons are sent to have taken place on account of her misconduct, and on the other account of his, of which the illegitimate children afford some proof. But a divorce, it seems, took place by an act of the legislature of Louisiana, about 1811; soon after which he was married to the woman who is distinguished by the appellation of the step-mother.

The affair excites great interest, not only on account of the novelty of the circumstance, but from the character of the parties. Major W. was brother of the celebrated English writer, Mary Woolstonecraft. The mother is of a very respectable family in New-York, and the step-mother a very intelligent woman, of high standing, in New-Orleans.

It is understood that before the indictment was made on oath, according to the usual course of proceedings in criminal matters; but that Mr. H. and some of his friends made such a representation of the affair to the attorney-general, as induced him to some other magistrate of the county of Livingston, (at a great distance from the place where the circumstances were best known) to summon those who were named to him by Mr. H. to attend at Amherst in behalf of the state.

In an affair which produces so many idlers, it is not to be expected that a correct account of all the circumstances can be readily obtained; but the above is believed to be a fair statement of the case, depending on information obtained from intelligent people living in the immediate neighborhood.

We would further remark that Major W. left a large property.

Valuable Land for Sale.
HAVING more land in the tract on which I reside than I can farm to advantage, I will expose to public sale, on the 5th day of NOVEMBER next, if fair, if not the next fair day, eight hundred acres, divided into lots of two hundred acres; each lot has seventy acres in wood; of the cleared land one hundred and fifty acres are in clover, and two hundred in rye and wheat. This land is situated two miles below Alexandria, and is bounded north and east by Accotink creek, which separates the lower part of it from Jonathan Janney's mill, where the Alexandria price can be had for grain. It is as fertile as any land in the county, and as susceptible of improvement, by clover and plaster, as any I have seen. Persons wishing to view it will call on the subscriber, living at Cedar Grove, one mile below Janney's mill.

The terms will be one-third of the purchase money in hand, and the balance in two equal annual payments. The sale will take place at 12 o'clock, on the premises.
EDGAR McCARTY.
Fairfax Co. Va. October 6

Gunston for Sale.
THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria. It is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Potlick creeks, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six and a half herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaster acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania. I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain; being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole; it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary out-house, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental; two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvas backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensils and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment. Letters must be addressed to me at Potlick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.

Valuable Property for Sale.
THE subscriber is desirous of selling a handsomely situated farm, on Hunting creek, in Fairfax county Virginia, adjoining the Mount Vernon estate, and the lands of general Thomson Mason, four miles from Alexandria, containing about 240 acres, 80 of which are in wood—40 to 50 in thriving meadow of clover and timothy—a part of the residue recently seeded with wheat and rye, and clover, last spring—the whole enclosed with a new post and rail fence. The improvements are, a comfortable and convenient frame dwelling house with kitchen, smoke house, poultry house, granary and stables. There is on this place a rich and productive garden, and a large body of marsh meadow, from which may be saved annually 100 tons of hay, nearly as nutritious as the best timothy or clover. With the farm would be sold a number of very valuable horses, cows and sheep; waggon, carts, and a variety of farming utensils and household and kitchen furniture; corn, oats and rye, and 40 tons hay. Also, adjoining the one above described, a farm containing 160 acres, recently enclosed, on which is a brick house, which a trifling expense would render comfortable. The soil is excellent, and a considerable part might be easily converted into meadow—it would be sold with the other or separately. Also, a number of valuable servants, male and female. To prevent unnecessary application, he would observe, that they will only be sold to persons residing in the District or its vicinity, and not to be carried from it. The subscriber will also sell the greater part of his household furniture, which is new and handsome. For terms of all or any part of the above property, apply to NOBLET HERBERT, Esq., or

I WILL sell my property on King, West and Cameron streets, being one acre, or half a square, in fee simple, fronting one hundred and twenty three feet five inches on King street, the same on Cameron street, and three hundred and fifty three feet and two inches on West street. There are erected on said premises, an excellent two story brick dwelling house on West street, with smoke house, stable, carriage house, and every convenience suitable for the accommodation of a respectable family. A large two story brick warehouse, corner of King and West streets, now in the occupation of Thomas Swann, Jr. and another brick warehouse, with dwelling attached, fronting on King street, occupied by George Kincaid. These warehouses are built of the best materials, not surpassed by any in town. Two brick dwelling houses, fronting on King street, with sufficient room for the erection of other buildings, having every accommodation for families—and a large lot on West and Cameron streets, sufficiently large for the erection of fifteen respectable tenements.

This is a most desirable property for any man of fortune who wishes to improve it, or receive a good interest for his money, and offers advantages equal if not superior to any situation in the town of Alexandria. Likewise, two frame dwelling houses, fronting on King street, adjoining the warehouse occupied by George Kincaid. This property is subject to a small ground rent of thirty dollars and forty one cents per annum.

Also, a lot of ground, in fee simple, containing ten and three quarter acres, two miles from town, on the old Leesburg road, near the property of Wm. Robinson, Esq. This lot is beautifully situated, having a fine view of Alexandria and of the Potomac—is well taken with clover, and is capable of the highest improvement.

The above property will be sold together, or in part, and a liberal credit given to suit purchasers.
